KB HOME EARNS AUSTIN'S FIRST CERTIFICATION FOR EXCEPTIONAL QUALITY AND CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

Landmark National Housing Quality Program Provides Third-Party Certification and Increases Customer Satisfaction

June 28, 2006, Upper Marlboro, Md.—The NAHB Research Center today announced the National Housing Quality (NHQ) Certification of KB Home Austin. Headquartered in Austin, Texas, the local division of national home builder KB Home (NYSE: KBH), earned the designation following a rigorous NAHB Research Center audit of the implementation of their quality assurance systems. KB Home is currently the only NHQ Certified builder operating in Texas, with certified divisions in Austin, Dallas, San Antonio and Houston. KB Home Austin joins the elite group of builders nationwide that have successfully completed the distinguished program since its launch in early 2005. Additional KB Home divisions in other states participating in the program are working toward certification in 2006, signaling KB Home's corporate-wide commitment to the NHQ program.

Participation in the NHQ Certified Builder program is designed to increase efficiency and consistency in building practices. Formally launched at the 2005 International Builders' Show, the NHQ Certified Builder program provides a rigorous and complete review of business practices, and ensures that all elements of the company's quality assurance system are incorporated to provide greater customer satisfaction. To achieve certification, KB Home's Austin division participated in field and office training to implement the quality program, work more efficiently with their trade contractors, and maintain the continuous improvement efforts required by all NHQ Programs.

NAHB Research Center president Michael Luzier said, "I am excited about how the NHQ Certified Builder program is evolving and the increased efficiencies and customer satisfaction that participating builders are achieving. This program will continue to play a vital role the evolution of quality assurance in home building, and I would like to thank KB Home's Austin division for taking part in it."

KB Home –Austin's Quality Home Builder

KB Home has been delivering high-quality homes throughout the Austin area for more than nine years. The company was ranked in the top three homebuilders for customer satisfaction by J.D. Power and Associates for each of the last three years, including the top ranking in 2004. Even with its impressive track record, a solid commitment to customer service excellence remains a top priority for the company whose internal programs such as the "Power of 10" quality pledge – a 10-point quality construction checkpoint that covers every step of the process—complement the builder's participation in the Research Center's NHQ Program.

"Becoming the first builder in Austin to be named an NHQ Certified Builder is a significant milestone in our continued commitment to providing superior customer service, innovative architecture and quality homes in Austin," said KB Home Austin division president Ken Langston. "KB Home is driven by these goals in everything we do. Completing the National Housing Quality Certified Builder program was particularly important to our division because it demonstrates to homebuyers and our partners that KB Home is dedicated to delivering quality homes."

KB Home has been a pioneer in quality assurance in the home building industry. In November 2003, KB Home Chairman and CEO Bruce Karatz announced that the company would become the first large builder in the country to implement the NHQ Certified Trade Contractor program nationwide. This partnership has served to provide greater efficiency, consistency, and effectiveness to the benefit of KB Home's customers. As a result of program implementation, all of KB Home's trade partners will be required to complete quality assurance management training, and are on their way towards achieving NHQ certification.
